

Early Journal Content on JSTOR, Free to Anyone in the World

This article is one of nearly 500,000 scholarly works digitized and made freely available to everyone in the world by JSTOR.

Known as the Early Journal Content, this set of works include research articles, news, letters, and other writings published in more than 200 of the oldest leading academic journals. The works date from the mid-seventeenth to the early twentieth centuries.

We encourage people to read and share the Early Journal Content openly and to tell others that this resource exists. People may post this content online or redistribute in any way for non-commercial purposes.

Read more about Early Journal Content at <http://about.jstor.org/participate-jstor/individuals/early-journal-content>.

JSTOR is a digital library of academic journals, books, and primary source objects. JSTOR helps people discover, use, and build upon a wide range of content through a powerful research and teaching platform, and preserves this content for future generations. JSTOR is part of ITHAKA, a not-for-profit organization that also includes Ithaka S+R and Portico. For more information about JSTOR, please contact support@jstor.org.

the wants of settlement are entirely provided for. Thus the St. Marys Valley between the Rocky and Coeur d'Eleine Mountains, which has already attracted the notice of emigrants, and extends across nearly the whole width of the Territory, could be easily surveyed in a single season with the several valleys leading into it from the Rocky and Coeur d'Eleine Mountains. So with the Wallah Wallah Valley and the Colville Valley, the Coeur d'Eleine Prairie, the Spokane Plain and the Coeur d'Eleine Valley. I regret that I cannot now send a sketch of the exploration which has been made of the Territory, in the progress of the railroad survey, and which would furnish the strongest argument in favor of surveys by the geodetic method. This method is peculiarly adapted to the region west of the Cascades, where between the Olympia and Cascade Ranges the magnificent waters of the Sound, with its numerous beautiful and fertile islands, enter far towards the southern boundary of the Territory. These islands are now partially, and will be another year entirely, covered with claims, as will the adjacent shores of the Sound, and the fertile valleys of the rivers for a considerable distance from their mouths.

As soon as a sketch of the Territory can be prepared, I will send a copy of it to your office, with information in reference to the generality of arable land in the Territory, the valleys first requiring surveys, and such other information as may bear upon the subject matter of this communication.

---

Early Political Scheme

The following pair of letters relate to one of the most interesting men in early territorial history. Charles H. Mason was born at Fort Washington on the Potomac, the son of Major Milo Mason of Vermont. He graduated from Brown University with distinction in 1850. In his twenty-third year he was recommended to the President for appointment as District Attorney for Rhode Island. Instead of that office he received appointment as the first Secretary of the new Territory of Washington. As he himself states, he often served as Acting Governor. He was reappointed, as the petition requested. Governor Fayette McMullin, whose request he rejects, was removed from office, and Secretary Mason again became Acting Governor. The Olympia Pioneer and Democrat of July 29, 1859, recorded his death and published an extended eulogy. The Legislature had created a county under the Indian name "Sawamish." This name was changed to Mason in honor of the brilliant young officer.

Olympia, Dec. 12, 1857.

To the President of the United States:

Sir:—The undersigned Democratic members of the Legislative Assembly of Washington Territory would most respectfully recommend Hon. Charles H. Mason as Secretary for the Territory of Washington.

He has held that position for the last four years, and by his faithful discharge of official duties commanded our highest respect and warm admiration, and as a sound and efficient Democrat we most cordially endorse him.

We are, Sir, respectfully,

Your obedient servants,

(Signed): W. W. Miller, R. V. Peabody, B. F. Shaw, Stephen Guthrie, William H. Morrow, Thomas W. Glasgow, Thomas J. Fletcher, J. S. M. Van Cleave, J. Bullard, Henry Jackson, Archibald Taylor, David Phillips, Silas B. Curtis, R. S. Moore, William Hutchinson, James Seavey, C. C. Phillips, C. S. Irby; A. J. Cain, Clerk of the House of Representatives; Rufus Willard, Assistant Clerk; H. J. G. Maxon; C. C. Pagett, President of the Council; S. B. Crockett, Crumline La Du, C. B. Baker, Lewis Van Fleet, James W. Wiley.

(Signed): O. B. McFadden, Associate Justice of the Supreme Court; Fayette McMullin, Henry C. Wilson, T. D. Hinckley, James Tilton, United States Surveyor General for Washington Territory; J. T. Turner, Chief Clerk of the Council; Travers Daniels, Assistant Clerk of the Council.

Those thirty-four names, written sixty years ago, are still echoed in the names of a number of present-day citizens. They will be interested in the efforts of their fathers to secure a political favor for a worthy man. A little more than three months from the date of the petition Mr. Mason wrote the following letter to Governor McMullin:

Secretary's Office.

Olympia, March 25th, 1858.

His Excellency

Fayette McMullin,

Governor Wash. Terr'y.

Dear Sir:—

Your letter of this date referring to my contemplated departure for the States, in the steamer which is hourly expected, and in which you state "you do not wish me to leave until your return from the States," &c., has just been received.

In reply I have to state that I was not aware until yesterday evening in our conversation that you contemplated leaving the Territory during the present Spring. I then first learned that some time since you applied for a leave of absence, time so long passed that you expected an answer by the coming steamer.

My application was based upon a peculiar state of affairs, which even at the moment demanded my personal attention. Before however the leave which I now have was received, the Legislative Assembly was in session, and my actual presence was absolutely necessary. Having delayed that long, I deferred my departure until I could close up the work incident to the last session, which has now been accomplished.

The present is the most opportune time for me to be absent, and the duties that call me away are as imperative as any personal duties can be.

I have been in this Territory for four and a half years, twenty-one months of which I have had to discharge the duties of both Governor and Secretary of the Territory, together with the Superintendency of Indian Affairs, and during that whole time I have never left it except on business.

I have therefore to regret that at this moment, when I have but a brief period to attend to most pressing matters, that I cannot comply with your request.

I have the honor to remain,

Yr. obt. servt.,

C. H. MASON,

Secy. Wash. Ter.

---

Futile Attempt at Extradition

During the international dispute over the possession of the San Juan Islands, a number of American soldiers were landed on San Juan Island from Fort Bellingham. Some of these deserted, giving rise to the following correspondence:

Executive Office.

Olympia, Washington Territory,

March 31st, 1858.

Sir:—

Agreeable to the provisions of the Treaty of 1842 between Her Majesty's Kingdom of Great Britain and the United States, it becomes my duty to request that you will cause to be delivered into the custody of Capt. George E. Pickett, who is hereby authorized to receive them, the following named persons to-wit: Mathew Doyle, John Fallen, Martin Lennard, Solomon Pinkerhoff, Thomas Wilson and George Francis, who stand charged with the crime of robbery in this Territory.

I enclose herewith the affidavits which constitute the charge, together with an accurate description of the persons charged; and a list of the property taken. I have been informed that these persons are on the Island of Vancouver, and within the bounds of the territory over which your executive authority extends.

With sentiments of high regard, I am,

Your Excellency's obt. servt.,

(Signed) F. McMULLIN,

Gov. of Washington Territory.

To His Excellency,

James Douglass,

Governor of Vancouver Island.